Ashley Tyson elected youth mayor on 'Civic Youth Day'

Ashley Tyson was elected Youth Mayor of Statesboro on Civic Youth Day held at Statesboro High School on Monday, February 6. Elected with him as Youth Councilmen were Johnny Martin, Hoke Brunson, Billy Franklin, Janet Kraft and Donna Minkovitz. The winners were announced Monday afternoon in a special assembly meeting by Mrs. Chalmers Franklin of the high school faculty.

The Civic Youth Day is an annual event sponsored by the Y Clubs of the Statesboro High School, including the Senior Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs, under the direction of the YMCA organization.

The election Monday followed a ten day whirlwind campaign which followed closely the pattern of a national election. There were campaign speeches, campaign promises, campaign managers, posters, letters, and all the other gimmicks used by their adult counterparts.

This year there were three political parties. The "Rebel Rousers" were led by their candidate for mayor, Ashley Tyson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoke S. Tyson. His ticket included Marcus Seligman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Seligman, Janet Kraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Art Kraft, Johnny Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Martin, Donna Minkovitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Owens, Kenan Kern, son of Mrs. Virginia Kern, Beth Neasmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Neasmith, and Jack Paul, son of Mrs. Thelma Paul.

The third party, the "Bray-Dan-Zas" was led by Mayor Candidate Danny Bray. The party candidates for councilmen were Harriet Holleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nath Holleman, Mary Ann Smith, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. J. Robert Smith, Hoke Brunson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hoke Brunson, and Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Cannon and Gay Wheeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Wheeler.

Ashley Tyson, the new Youth Mayor, announced to the assembly Monday morning that he would name the appointed officers later this week.

The election results were announced by Mrs. Chalmers Franklin.

MATTIE LIVERY PTA TO MEET TUESDAY FEB. 14

The Mattie Livery PTA will meet Tuesday evening, February 14, at 7:30 o'clock. The program will be "Adult Talent Night." The third grade will have charge of the devotional and the fourth grade mothers will be hostesses during the social hour.

Charles M. Robbins Jr., Rotary past president, presented the new Rotary to the club. Mr. Robbins also presented Mrs. Morris who placed the Rotary button in the coat lapel of the new member of the club.

Mr. Morris is the Statesboro club's ninth first member. The club was chartered in 1957.

Judge Stella Akin of the Municipal Court of Savannah will be the guest speaker at the Statesboro Senior Woman's Club meeting at the Fair Road Recreation Center on Thursday afternoon, February 16, at 3:30 o'clock.

Another distinguished guest to be present at the meeting is Mrs. Louis J. Ross of Savannah, president of the First District, Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

The program will be presented by the Public Affairs Department with Mrs. Loren M. Darden and Mrs. Roy Powell as co-chairmen. The program theme is "Togetherness—What the Citizen in Action Should Know."

Mrs. Edna L. Hoefel is president of the club.

Red Cross drive led by Luke Anderson

E. L. (Luke) Anderson, secretary-treasurer of the Producers Cooperative Association, has been named chairman of the 1961 Red Cross Fund campaign for Bulloch County.

Mr. Anderson announced Monday that the month-long annual Red Cross drive will begin on Wednesday, March 1.

He stated that Lewis Hook will be chairman of the advance gifts division of the fund drive. Jack Wynn will head the drive in the business district. Jim Brock will head the campaign in the outlying business districts.

Julian B. Hodges heads the residential district; Miss Maude White, the county; Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, Georgia Southern College; Dean Paul Carroll, the Georgia Southern College faculty and general personnel; M. L. Lockwood, campaign material.

Mr. Anderson has the local campaign upon the national appeal, "Good Things Happen When You Help."

HAROLD R. WATKINS, general representative of the Board of Church Extension of the Disciples of Christ (Christian Church), with national headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will meet with the officials of the First Christian Church of Statesboro on Saturday, February 11, to discuss future building plans with the Statesboro congregation.

JUNIOR BOWLING LEAGUE Standings-Feb. 4

Guzzards, 20 points; Mullens, 20; Alcotts, 18; Rebels, 6. High individual game: Donald White with 154. High individual series: Billy Davis with 450. High team game, Alcotts, 549. High team series, Alcotts, 1515.

The presentation was made by M. D. Williams Jr., fieldman for the company who told Mr. Woodcock, "Our organization has grown and prospered during your period of association and we wish to acknowledge your contribution to this success. We thank you for your loyalty and sincerely trust that your splendid representation of this company will continue for many years to come. Our entire agency force, countrywide and in Canada, now numbers more than 40,000. Of these, thousands have represented us for twenty-five, thirty-five, fifty and more years. Without the support of all America Fore Loyalty agents, our companies could not have attained the position we hold today in the insurance industry."

Mr. Woodcock heads the Statesboro Insurance Agency, located on Savannah Avenue. He also heads the Woodcock Motor Company, auto dealer. He is a graduate of Georgia Tech.

Judge Akin of Savannah speaks here Feb. 16

Judge Stella Akin of the Municipal Court of Savannah will be the guest speaker at the Statesboro Senior Woman's Club meeting at the Fair Road Recreation Center on Thursday afternoon, February 16, at 3:30 o'clock.

Another distinguished guest to be present at the meeting is Mrs. Louis J. Ross of Savannah, president of the First District, Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

The program will be presented by the Public Affairs Department with Mrs. Loren M. Darden and Mrs. Roy Powell as co-chairmen. The program theme is "Togetherness—What the Citizen in Action Should Know."

Mrs. Edna L. Hoefel is president of the club.

Marriage of Mrs. Pearl Davis is announced

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Davis of St. Marys, Georgia, announce the marriage of his mother, Mrs. Pearl Alma Davis of St. Marys and formerly of Statesboro, to Mr. C. M. Wine of Ormond Beach, Florida.

The wedding was solemnized Saturday morning, February 4, in the First Baptist Church of Folkston, Georgia. Grandchildren of the couple were attendants and carried the rings. The wedding music was also rendered by grandchildren.

All the children of the bride and groom attended the wedding. Others present included Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Brannen of Claxton, Mrs. Brannen is a sister to the bride.

Immediately following the ceremony Mrs. Kenneth Davis and Mrs. Stanley Davis, daughters-in-law of the bride, entertained guests at the wedding at a luncheon in the private dining room of Askevas Restaurant.

The table was centered with a two-tiered wedding cake. On either side were three branch silver candelabra holding pink candles with beautiful arrangements of pink and white asters and mums with pink streamers tipped with lilies of the valley.

After the luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Wine left on a trip to points of interest in Florida. They will make their home in Ormond Beach, Florida.

Local hairdressers observe National Beauty Salon Week

"Beautiful Service," has meanings that stretch outside the beauty salon and into the community. Professional cosmetologists of Statesboro will prove it the week of February 12 by donating their "beautiful services" to many less fortunate members of our community.

According to Mrs. Sallie Clarke, chairman of National Beauty Salon Week of Unit 30, Statesboro, many members of the group will visit hospitals and institutions in a heart-warming salute to National Beauty Salon Week. Many of these people hardly recall the last time such pampering took place in their quiet lives.

This welfare program of free professional beauty care at institutions became a national tradition for professional hairdressers 11 years ago, with the establishment of National Beauty Salon Week (Feb. 12 to 18 this year).

Members of the committee guiding Statesboro Unit's 1961 Institutional Welfare Service Program include Mrs. Clarke, chairman; Mrs. Allen Tier, Mrs. Jo Smith, Mrs. Doris Chester, Mrs. Mildred Simmons and Mrs. Nita Clarke.

THE PROSPECTS FOR freedom of debate in the United States Senate are not quite as dismal as the narrow margin of the recent vote to send the issue to the Rules Committee for study would seem to indicate.

While a switch of two votes could have resulted in rewriting Senate Rules on the spot last month, the situation was altered with the change in Administration. The difference between, then and now is Vice President Lyndon Johnson who, when Senate Majority Leader, wrote the existing rule requiring two-thirds of the Senators voting to cut off debate and specifying that debate on proposed rules changes is subject to that requirement. Former Vice President Richard Nixon, presiding as a "lame duck," had announced his intention, if given the opportunity, to declare that rule unconstitutional and to hold that a majority of the Senators voting could end debate on rules changes.

SINCE MR. NIXON did not get a chance to establish a politically-expedient precedent that rule could be imposed on the whim of the Vice President and in view of Vice President Johnson's authorship of the present rule on limitation of debate, there is good reason to believe that, whatever the Rules Committee may recommend, Senators who are opposed to destroying the Senate's vitality as one of the checks and balances of constitutional government will have ample opportunity to talk the issue out before the country when it comes up again.

It was obvious from last month's vote that opponents of free debate did not have sufficient strength to write a majority cloture rule but they were close to having a majority for limitation of debate by three-fifths of the Senators voting. The fact that there is no constitutional basis or parliamentary precedent for silencing Senators by 60-percent vote gave added strength to the argument that serious study by the Rules Committee was indicated and needed.

IN 1957 I had the honor to serve as Chairman of a Special Subcommittee which conducted the most exhaustive hearings ever held on this subject. I insisted on getting opinion from the grass roots and of the 132 individuals and spokesmen for organizations with national memberships heard more than three-fourths were opposed to any change in the rule governing debate as then written—a rule even more stringent than the one now in effect. It was my conclusion at that time that the American people recognize the United States Senate as the last-remaining guardian of their liberty and their constitutional right to govern themselves and they do not wish the hands of their Senators tied in the discharge of that solemn duty. Nothing has happened in the intervening four years to indicate any change in public sentiment and citizens of all areas would be well advised to so express themselves to the Senators from their States.

Rites held for Mrs. C. Waters on February 3

Mrs. Charlie Waters, 76, died Thursday morning, February 2, in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Brant, in Statesboro after a short illness.

Survivors are her daughter, three sons, Eugene and Charles Waters, Statesboro, Rufus Waters, Eastman; two sisters, Mrs. Sarah Davis, Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Roxie Groover, Statesboro; a brother, Jim Kirby, Claxton; nine grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 3:30 p.m. Friday, February 3, in Calvary Baptist Church, conducted by the Rev. Austel Youmans and the Rev. J. W. Groover. Burial was in East Side Cemetery.

Palbearers were J. W. NeSmith, Rufus Gwinn, A. V. Wiggins, Mittry Taylor, Boss Collins and Bill Mikell.

Smith-Tillman Mortuary was in charge.

MAJOR NANNIE EVANS Major Nannie E. Evans, Army Medical Specialist Corps Counselor will visit Statesboro on Thursday, Feb. 9 to acquaint college women students with the career fields of dietetics, physical therapy and occupational therapy, according to Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students.

To Beat the Band

By DALE JENSEN

THIS IS the third in a series of articles based on information found in a booklet published by the National Education Association, entitled "Will Your Child Get A Quality Education?"

The first article dealt with the question, "What are the ingredients of a quality education?" and the second article, with the first ingredient, quality teachers. We are now going to discuss quality curriculum.

If your child shows unusually fine aptitude for manual skills, a quality curriculum can help develop them into paying vocational skills.

A QUALITY CURRICULUM can help your child develop sound health habits and constructive recreational interests. A quality curriculum with quality guidance will help your child make intelligent decisions about his behavior, his school program, and his career. Authorities recommend one guidance counselor for every 250 to 300 high school students. How is your child's school in this respect? What do you know about the different courses and activities offered in your child's school? Do you have things here that other schools do not? Do others have worthwhile programs that you do not? Why not use your next PTA meeting to ask these and other questions on your mind about your school program? Become an informed parent, and help your school attain and maintain a quality curriculum.

A comprehensive and meaningful curriculum will help your child develop into a broadly educated person.

A WIDE VARIETY of experiences in his school curriculum will help your child find

Rites held for Mrs. James Jones on February 1

By MRS. W. H. MORRIS

Mrs. James (Ola) Akins Jones, 75, died Monday afternoon, January 30, in the home of a son, Chas. Jones, Port, after a long illness.

Mrs. Jones was a member of the Upper Mill Creek Primitive Baptist Church, and had lived in Bulloch County all her life.

Survivors are nine sons, Aubrey Jones, Sylvania, Robert Jones, Lloyd Jones, Port, James Jones Jr., Herman Jones, both of Bloomingdale, James Jones, Savannah, and J. A. Jones, Marietta; two daughters, Mrs. L. B. Coleman, Mrs. E. W. Coleman, both of Savannah one brother, Horace A. Akins, Statesboro, 41 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday, February 1, in Upper Mill Creek Primitive Baptist Church by Elders Ivy Spivey and Harris Cribbs. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Grandsons served as active pallbearers. Honorary pallbearers will be members of the Upper Mill Creek Primitive Baptist Church, and Dr. John T. Deal.

Smith-Tillman Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

CLEANING KID GLOVES

Kid gloves should be washed in a solution of mild soap and lukewarm water, according to Miss Leonora Anderson, head of the extension clothing department. The gloves may be washed on or off of the hands, but they must be washed quickly and not left to soak. After washing, roll in a towel to remove the extra moisture, then pull into shape and lay out flat to dry.

Stilson News

By MRS. W. H. MORRIS

Last week we had another freeze. It was not as severe as the one the week before last, but there was real beauty to behold when the sun came up on Saturday morning and shone on the pine trees, white and glistening with ice. The trees dropped only a little with this freeze and as far as I know there was no damage caused from this freeze.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Sanders and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shurling Jr. of Savannah, were spend-the-day guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Shurling Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne B. Dixon of Savannah spent last Sunday visiting relatives here.

Miss Lillian Morris was on the sick list last weekend. We hope she will soon be feeling fine.
